LAW FIRM VETERANS SHED LIGHT ON CLIENT SERVICE SUCCESS

Two Step Software Announces Panel Discussion Featuring Real Stories and Practical Tips from Corporate Focus Superstars

Needham, MA – November 3, 2008 — Two Step Software, Inc., a provider of stock plan administration and corporate governance solutions, today announced it will offer a live, online vendor briefing on Monday, November 10, 2008, at 12:00 noon Eastern time. The 60-minute briefing, entitled “Client Service Success Stories from Corporate Focus Superstars: Online Minute Books, Direct Client Access, Even Winning New Business” is sponsored by the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA) and will feature a panel of seasoned law firm veterans who will share real-life examples of where they have experienced client service success using Corporate Focus.

“In the 90's, software applications like Corporate Focus were used primarily to get better organized and for greater knowledge management,” said Gary D. Levine, President and CEO of Two Step Software, Inc. “With the prevalence of the internet in 2008, legal applications are expected to mirror other technologies that people have become familiar with (outside of the world of legal services) and provide immediate access to real-time information that attorneys and clients need at any time and from anywhere.”

The panelists will discuss scenarios ranging from organizing a board meeting or filing an annual report, to preparing a capitalization table or disclosure documents for the next round of financing. They will illustrate with real-life examples how, when the appropriate parties are able to get their hands on governance, capitalization and minute book information and documents without any delay, it resulted in much higher levels of client service.

“In the end it comes down to higher productivity for attorneys and their clients,” Levine said. “Instead of spending time looking for information and documents, attorneys can spend their valuable time evaluating real issues and advising clients. Today’s fee-conscious clients don't want to pay for someone to find something and they want their information even faster. This fosters better client relationships, streamlines the delivery of legal services, and provides greater value for each billable dollar.”

The briefing, which is sponsored by the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA), is offered free of charge but registration is required. For more information: www.twostep.com/clientervice
